Introduction:

In today's fast-evolving healthcare and retail environment, workforce planning must move beyond static, headcount-focused processes to become a dynamic, strategic capability. Organizations navigating digital transformation, regional expansion, and hybrid work models require a forward-looking approach to anticipate talent needs, mitigate risks, and build future capabilities.

This advanced course empowers HR, Talent, and Business Leaders with the tools to connect workforce strategies with long-term business goals. Using data-driven techniques such as skills intelligence, segmentation, and scenario planning, participants will learn to design and implement an agile, purpose-aligned workforce strategy that supports operational excellence and transformation at all organizational levels.

Course Objectives:

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Align workforce planning with strategic priorities, transformation programs, and national vision frameworks.
- Forecast future workforce needs using data modeling, scenario planning, and capability-based approaches.
- Segment the workforce based on strategic value, future potential, and critical roles across operations, support, and digital functions.
- Analyze workforce risks and gaps using internal analytics and external market data.
- Design reskilling, upskilling, and mobility strategies to build a resilient, future-ready workforce.
- Strengthen collaboration among HR, Finance, and Business Units to ensure ongoing integration of workforce planning into strategic decisions

Course Outline 2 Days:

Day 1: Strategic Alignment & Capability Forecasting

1.1 Reimagining Strategic Workforce Planning SWP

- The evolution from operational to strategic workforce planning
- Workforce planning as a competitive advantage in retail, healthcare, and digital environments
- Trends impacting the future of work: skills-based organizations, automation, hybrid models
