The background of the entire page is a light gray with a series of concentric, semi-transparent circles radiating from the center. In the foreground, there is a checkered chessboard with alternating light and dark gray squares. Several chess pieces are positioned on the board: a silver pawn on the left, a silver pawn in the center, and a large gold king piece on the right. The pieces are rendered with realistic shading and highlights.

Introduction

Social media has become an essential part of modern communication, influencing how individuals, brands, and organizations connect with audiences, share messages, build trust, and achieve business goals. Today, having a presence on social media is no longer enough; success depends on understanding how platforms work, how audiences behave, and how content can be planned, created, published, measured, and improved.

This 5-day training course provides participants with a practical and structured understanding of social media marketing and content strategy. The course covers the evolution of social media, audience behavior, platform strategies, personal branding, content creation, visual storytelling, video marketing, content marketing, paid advertising, influencer collaboration, online reputation management, crisis response, and performance analytics.

The program is designed to move step by step from the basic concepts of social media to more practical applications, helping participants build stronger confidence in using social media professionally and effectively. The course content has been reorganized into a focused 5-day format while keeping the key topics from the original course included.
