Negotiating, Drafting & Understanding Contracts

Introduction

Contracts are the foundation of all business relationships, whether for constructing a new facility or supplying office supplies. The terms and management of the contract are critical to the success of any company. Contracts affect every aspect of business life, and all employees—whether directly involved in contract management or not—must understand how they function, especially in an international context.

This course covers the three stages of contracting: negotiating the deal, documenting it in a robust and practical way, and managing the performance of the contract itself. The goal is to develop general skills applicable to a wide range of contracts and to enhance participants' awareness of practices in other industries that may add value to their situations. The course also provides a perspective on how to consider matters from the other party's viewpoint.

Course Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Negotiate contracts effectively before structuring the contract documentation.
- Gain negotiation techniques to reach fair and beneficial agreements.
- Analyze and draft specific contract clauses using real examples.
- Understand differences in contract approaches across various jurisdictions, with common themes in contracting.
- Improve contract management skills and apply best practices to prevent or resolve disputes.
- Master advanced skills in contract drafting and negotiation for successful business agreements.
