Public Sector Management and Reform

Introduction

Public Sector Management and Reform is a cornerstone for building efficient, transparent, and citizen-centered government institutions. In today's rapidly evolving economic, social, and technological landscape across the Middle East and North Africa, the demand for modernizing administrative structures, improving efficiency, and delivering high-quality public services has never been greater.

This program is designed for executives, team leaders, and specialists across public and private sector organizations. It equips participants with the knowledge and tools to manage change, strengthen institutional performance, and adopt global best practices in public sector reform. The course targets professionals at all levels: from early- and mid-career employees seeking to sharpen their skills, to senior leaders aiming to reinforce their strategic capabilities.
