HR Skills: Using Tools and Metrics

Code: HR28 From: 12 - 16 October 2025 City: Tunis (Tunisia) Fees: 3700 Pound

Introduction

In today's data-driven world, HR Analytics has become a critical tool for driving organizational success. It involves using people data to evaluate and design better systems, solve business problems, and make evidence-based decisions. HR professionals utilize data collected from HR systems and business information systems to analyze workforce performance, productivity, well-being, and alignment with strategic goals. By understanding how to leverage HR metrics and workforce analytics tools, HR departments can ensure that investments in human capital translate into improved organizational performance and a competitive advantage.

This course is designed to introduce participants to the importance of HR analytics and the tools used to measure and enhance workforce performance. Participants will learn to effectively use HR measurement tools to assess and improve organizational strategies and ultimately drive greater productivity and competitiveness within their companies.

Course Objectives

By the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the role of analytics in assessing employee behavior and performance.
- Conduct detailed analysis assessments using HR tools and workforce analytics tools.
- Make evidence-based decisions based on data, rather than subjective opinions.
- Define the principles of organizational change and apply them in the HR context.
- Utilize a range of assessment tools to improve organizational performance, such as workforce planning and HR reporting tools.
- Enhance HR skills through training in HR metrics and workforce analytics.
