Introduction

Africa needs new infrastructure. The Gulf faces unique and growing financial challenges. The population is growing, and there is a clear need for more and better infrastructure to match. Roads, airports, schools, hospitals, and housing: the list is enormous and growing. Yet severely limited budgets and deficits continue to prevent government at all levels from delivering the kinds of structural change that have always been needed. In the Middle East, however, some countries in the region have developed relatively successful PPP programs - similar in many ways yet with specific national characteristics. Challenges remain throughout the region and are intensifying in the current environment.

Merely grasping the concepts of PPP does not do justice to our great responsibility of having ownership in our nation's future. We already know what we need to do, now is the time to really discover HOW.

This master class aims to do just that. Beginning with an in-depth understanding of how PPPs work, from financial, commercial, project & legal aspects, we seek to push our participants to innovate with real-life case studies, group discussions, and technical evaluation.

Course Objectives

- Financial & Commercial aspects of PPP, e.g. funding, how to attract investors, project finance, ROI.
- Project aspect of PPP, e.g. project planning, cost control, risks, implementation.
- Legal aspect of PPP, e.g. contract, regulation, dispute resolution.
- Sector-by-sector analysis of PPP models and structures.
- Building a real PPP model using Excel.
