Introduction

This PR Campaign Management training is a must for any business aiming to employ Public Relations Campaigns as part of their business operation. Public relations campaigns can help drive strategic organisational change, build public perceptions, and drive reputation with key stakeholders. Well-planned and executed campaigns are a cost-effective means of changing perceptions and increasing stakeholder value for an organisation.

Training Objectives of Planning & Managing PR Campaigns

- Examine the range of PR campaigns and the purposes that they can achieve
- Develop a problem-solving approach to match PR campaign strategy to business objectives
- Plan PR campaigns to meet needs setting clear objectives with behavioural outcomes and measurable results
- Examine a wide range of successful campaigns to judge the different strategies and use of channels and media
- Measure risk presented during a campaign by increased public and media scrutiny and plan to mitigate these risks
- Learn how to evaluate PR campaigns to demonstrate success to the business and to develop campaign methodology
