Image making and reputation management

Code: LM28 From: 7 - 11 July 2025 City: Baku (Azerbaijan) Fees: 4400 Pound

Introduction

The mental image of an organization is considered one of the pillars of its success, playing a critical role in supporting the achievement of its mission, vision, and strategic objectives. Understanding the concept of image making and its significance is essential, as it helps protect the organization's reputation from accusations and rumors while increasing target audience satisfaction. This ultimately enhances their interest in the organization's services or products. The mental image guides all personnel in contributing to the maintenance, development, and enhancement of the organization's image locally, regionally, and internationally.

This intensive course aims to explore reputation management strategies within organizations and their role in building a strong brand. It covers topics such as constructing a distinctive and positive mental image and reputation for companies and institutions, deepening understanding of the image-making process, and acquiring skills in planning, managing, maintaining, and developing the mental image to support the organization's mission, vision, and strategic objectives.
