How to Take Initiative and Influence Your Team

Code: PS28 From: 23 - 27 February 2026 City: Brussels Fees: 4400 Pound

Introduction

Taking initiative is a key characteristic of effective leaders and high-performing teams. This course is designed to help individuals develop the skills needed to take proactive steps, influence their teams, and foster a culture of accountability and leadership. Participants will explore the initiative definition, understand what is an initiative, and gain practical tools to enhance their ability to initiate action and inspire others.

This program will provide participants with the insights needed to master strategic initiatives, build credibility, and use team building initiatives to create a motivated and high-performing team environment. Whether in business, defense strategies like the Global Defense Initiative, or corporate leadership, improved initiative leads to innovation and success.

Course Objectives

By the end of the course, participants will:

- Understand initiative's meaning and its role in leadership and professional success.
- Develop strategies to take initiative and lead effectively.
- Learn how to influence your team and build a strategic initiatives team.
- Master techniques for persuasive communication and trust-building.
- Gain confidence in leading without formal authority.
- Foster team initiatives that encourage accountability and engagement.
