Institutional Capacity Building

Code: PS32 From: 15 - 19 June 2026 City: London (UK) Fees: 5400 Pound

Introduction

In today's fast-paced and competitive market, institutional capacity building has emerged as one of the key pillars for organizational excellence and long-term sustainability. But what is capacity building in practice? It's the process of strengthening an organization's capabilities to achieve its mission, adapt to change, and remain competitive.

For executives, team leaders, and professionals across the Middle East and North Africa, understanding capacity building meaning and how to implement it effectively is essential for achieving institutional capacity and driving organizational success. This capacity building training program is designed to address the needs of professionals at every stage of their careers—from early-career staff aiming to develop critical capacity building skills, to managers and leaders focused on strategic growth.

Through this comprehensive program, you'll learn how to build capacity within your organization by using modern tools, global best practices, and innovative strategies. You'll also explore the advantages of capacity building and how it supports sustainability and development across key sectors, including oil and gas, banking and financial services, telecommunications, project management, and human resources.
