Evaluating Training ROI

Code: HR32 From: 3 - 7 May 2027 City: Malé (Maldives) Fees: 5400 Pound

Introduction

Training is one of the most significant investments organizations make to enhance workforce capabilities, but the real challenge lies in measuring its value. Evaluating Training ROI enables leaders to assess the tangible and intangible outcomes of learning initiatives, ensuring alignment with organizational objectives. This evaluation goes beyond financial metrics—it includes productivity improvements, quality enhancements, and employee engagement.

This course is designed for executives, team leaders, and professionals who aim to build effective training evaluation systems, apply advanced measurement tools, and ensure that training investments deliver sustainable organizational value.
