Wire Transfer Compliance and the Travel Rule

Code: FA32 From: 12 - 23 April 2027 City: Lisbon (Portugal) Fees: 9400 Pound

Introduction

Wire transfer transparency is a critical pillar of global efforts to combat money laundering and terrorist financing. At the international level, FATF Recommendation 16, commonly referred to as the Travel Rule, establishes the global standard requiring specific originator and beneficiary information to accompany wire transfers. The primary objective of this standard is to ensure the traceability of funds and to prevent the misuse of payment systems for illicit and criminal purposes.

Within the European Union, these global standards are transformed into binding legal obligations through EU Regulation EU 2015/847, which formally implements FATF Recommendation 16 for payment service providers operating in the EU. While FATF defines the international policy framework, the EU Regulation specifies how these requirements must be applied in practice, supervised, and enforced within the EU's legal and regulatory environment.

This comprehensive 10-day training program provides participants with a structured and practical understanding of both FATF Recommendation 16 and EU Regulation 2015/847, with a clear focus on how the EU framework operationalizes the global Travel Rule standard. The program bridges regulatory theory with day-to-day operational practice, enabling participants to manage compliance risks effectively and meet supervisory expectations for both domestic and cross-border wire transfers.
