Master Fund Formation & Legal Structuring in 10 Days

Code: LD32 From: 8 - 19 June 2026 City: Paris (France) Fees: 10600 Pound

Introduction

The private investment fund market has become increasingly complex, with evolving regulations, diverse fund structures, cross-border considerations, and higher expectations from institutional and sophisticated investors. Launching and managing a successful private fund requires more than basic legal knowledge. It requires a strong understanding of fund formation, legal structuring, regulatory compliance, governance, investor relations, taxation, and operational readiness.

This intensive 10-day Fund Formation and Legal Structuring course provides a practical roadmap for establishing private investment funds from initial concept to launch and ongoing management. The course covers private equity funds, venture capital funds, hedge funds, legal entity selection, jurisdictional considerations, fund documentation, capital raising, fund economics, investor negotiations, compliance obligations, governance frameworks, and emerging trends in the private funds market.

Participants will work through the full fund formation lifecycle, including structuring decisions, regulatory filings, drafting and reviewing key legal documents, managing investor commitments, addressing tax and cross-border issues, and building governance and operational controls. The program combines legal, strategic, and practical perspectives to support efficient fund structuring, stronger investor confidence, and long-term fund sustainability.

Course Objectives

By the end of this course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the legal and regulatory framework governing private investment funds.
- Analyze different private fund models, including private equity, venture capital, and hedge funds.
- Evaluate fund structure options across jurisdictions and legal entities.
- Manage the full fund formation process from concept to launch.
- Select appropriate onshore, offshore, master-feeder, parallel fund, and limited partnership structures.
- Assess tax-efficient structuring strategies and cross-border implications.
- Draft, review, and analyze key fund documents, including private placement memorandums, limited partnership agreements, subscription agreements, and side letters.
- Understand investment management agreements, advisory contracts, service provider agreements, and confidentiality documentation.
- Navigate capital raising regulations and institutional investor due diligence requirements.
- Structure fund economics, including management fees, carried interest, waterfalls, clawbacks, expense allocations, and fee offsets.
- Apply regulatory compliance requirements related to investment advisers, anti-money laundering, tax reporting, and sustainability-related disclosures.
- Strengthen fund governance, investor relations, conflict management, internal controls, and operational due diligence.
- Analyze advanced fund trends, including co-investments, secondary transactions, fund finance, and evolving investor expectations.

Conclusion

The Fund Formation and Legal Structuring for Private Investment Funds course provides a comprehensive practical framework for understanding how private investment funds are structured, documented, launched, and managed. It covers the full formation lifecycle, including fund models, legal entities, jurisdictional selection, regulatory requirements, tax considerations, key legal documents, investor relations, fund economics, governance, operations, and emerging market trends.

The program follows a clear 10-day sequence. It begins with the foundations of private investment funds and the fund formation process, then moves into structuring techniques and legal documentation. It then focuses on capital raising, investor relations, fund economics, regulatory compliance, governance, operations, and advanced fund topics. This structure allows participants to connect legal, strategic, operational, and investor-facing elements into one complete fund formation roadmap.

By the end of the course, participants will be better prepared to support the establishment and management of private investment funds with greater confidence and technical clarity. The course helps strengthen fund structuring efficiency, reduce legal and regulatory risk, improve investor communication, and support more robust governance standards within private fund operations.
