Advanced Protocol Practices & International Diplomatic Coordination for International Organizations

Code: PR32 From: 31 May - 4 June 2027 City: Accra (Ghana) Fees: 4200 Pound

Introduction

Protocol in international organizations is a sophisticated professional discipline that combines diplomacy, intercultural communication, ceremonial standards, official representation, stakeholder management, and precise logistical coordination. Protocol officers play a critical role in ensuring that official visits, diplomatic engagements, conferences, ceremonies, meetings, and high-level events are conducted with professionalism and respect for international norms.

This intensive 10-day training programme is designed to develop advanced practical competencies in protocol practices and diplomatic coordination within international organizations. It focuses on the application of international protocol standards, diplomatic etiquette, official ceremonies, precedence, delegation management, VIP handling, cross-cultural communication, and coordination of high-level international engagements.

The programme combines conceptual knowledge with practical exercises, case studies, simulations, and real-world protocol scenarios.
