Ethics in Public Policy

Ref: 3255179_334039 Date: 30 November – 4 December 2026 Location: London (UK) Fees: 6100 GBP

Introduction

Ethics in Public Policy is a cornerstone for ensuring transparency, justice, and accountability in governance. Policies that lack an ethical foundation often result in loss of public trust, institutional weakness, and ineffective outcomes. With growing global challenges such as corruption, climate change, and economic inequality, integrating ethical values into decision-making is no longer optional—it is a strategic necessity.

This program is tailored for executives, team leaders, and professionals across both government and private institutions in the Middle East and North Africa. It provides participants with practical tools to make balanced decisions that serve the public interest while upholding institutional integrity. It also equips them with frameworks for navigating the delicate balance between political objectives and ethical considerations in their daily work environments.
